EDITORIAL

Special thanks must go to Castlemaine XXXX for sponsoring the Pre-Season Tournament and this evening's final which should provide a great finish to the Pre-Season competition.

In spite of some very interesting results throughout the whole Pre-Season competition, soccer followers would be wise in keeping their betting money in their pockets rather than try and pick a winner at this stage for the 1992 Grand Final. Pre-Season form is often not the best recommendation. Lets sit and watch how the various sides perform week in and week out during the competition.

If you happened to have sighted Stein Grodum flying over your house on Tuesday with a parachute strapped around him, your eyes were not deceiving you, the Queensland and Brisbane United player took his first big plunge from an aircraft circling 4000 feet above Perry Park. It was all part of the big launch for the XXXX League this season. Well done Stein for the big effort! The next parachute jump he decides to take will be an absolute breeze.

Welcome to the Newcastle team for tonight's National League match which will be a beauty. There has been a lot of talk about this match throughout the whole of the season and finally the big night has arrived.

Newcastle BHP are similarly based to Brisbane United. Both have a big city support behind them.

The vocal support at Perry Park is becoming louder with each home game played. Lets continue to be enthusiastically behind our team as we take on the men from Newcastle.

Good luck to both teams, we're all in for a very special footballing treat tonight!

FROM THE COACHING STAFF

The 2-0 victory over South Melbourne in our last home game was sweet indeed. The team selection and positional changes just had to be right against such an experienced side.

The backbone of success lay in the discipline and tight markings of Glen Gwynne on Paul Trimboli, Ibro Cahut on Paul Wade and Chris Slater on Tsolakis with everyone else well aware of their direct opponent.

The tactics were spot on. Then the attitude of the players – such determination and resolve from Alan Hunter and Frank Pimblett lifted the others before we ran out – we were afraid of no one. Then the fitness factor – again we finished strongly throwing waves of attack behind the frustrated Hellas mid-field.

If Steve Bullock stole the show with saving goals in the previous home game then John Brown surely stole this one by scoring and creating so much havoc in the Hellas defense. He seems to have improved greatly since he was told to tie his hair back! Ferenc Puskas was gracious in defeat but no doubt concerned when so many international stars were made to look quite ordinary. Once again Perry Park was the place for thrills and excitement – a great result.

So to Melbourne last week for the clash with bottom placed Preston – and just as difficult a game. Craig Williams and Mark Greer came in to strengthen the defense with David Hunter suspended and Clayton Koch rested for the Marconi Cup game. Once again John Brown pulled back the equaliser and if Robbie Markovac had taken half his chances another victory would have resulted.

With 3 League games to go we are still in with a chance of the top 5. Thinking back on the points that just "slipped away" with lack of concentration, but every team thinks of that at this time of the season.

Only 4 points now separate 2nd place from 13th and many positions will change in the running – every game is a Cup Final now. Going to print before the Marconi game on Wednesday we can only hope that a real Cup Final has been achieved. Marconi are in good form and will be looking for revenge. The visit of Rod Stewart and some of his back up staff to Perry Park last Wednesday gave us all a bit of excitement. Even at 47 Rockin' Rod showed good balance and control and his fitness was quite acceptable. The players and staff enjoyed meeting such a legend.

Today's fixture against Newcastle has double importance. We have to prove we are the best of the newcomers to the league and to keep our top 5 hopes alive. Miron and Joe

XXXX PRE SEASON RULES

The following rules have been adopted by the Queensland Soccer Federation for the XXXX Pre Season Tournament:

In the Qualifying Series:

Each team will play the others in its group once, with the top team in each group moving to the semi finals.

Teams winning their match shall receive three points. A team losing a match receives no points. In the event of a draw after 90 minutes, a *shoot-out will take place. The team winning the shoot-out will receive two points; the shoot-out loser gets one point.

In the event of teams in a group being level on points at the end of the round-robin, they shall be separated firstly on goal difference, then number of goals scored and then the previous result between the two teams.

In the Knock-out phase:

Teams shall advance according to the set schedule.

Should any match be drawn after 90 minutes, 20 minutes (2x10 minutes) of extra-time will follow. However, in this extra time the moment a goal is scored, the game will cease. If the scores are still deadlocked, a *shoot-out will take place.

In the qualifying and knock-out series, each team may make three substitutions in a match. FIFA rules apply in relation to all other matters.

The prizemoney split:

Prizemoney in the XXXX Pre-Season Tournament will be allocated as follows:

WINNER - $5000; RUNNER-UP - $2000
There is no play-off for third.

XXXX SHOOT-OUT

* In the early Group rounds, if a match finishes in a draw a "Shoot-out" will take place to determine the team to pick up a bonus point.

An attacker from the halfway line has a 10 sec. time limit to run with the ball and beat the goalkeeper. The team scoring the most goals wins the bonus point. Players are rotated as for penalty deciders under F.I.F.A. rules.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear Sir,

As regular supporters of our fledgling team we feel we must put pen to paper to strongly complain, concerning the lapse in organisational skills and reverence to one of the all-time living great legends of WORLD SOCCER.

Mr Ferenc Puskas may be the Manager of South Melbourne but his illustrious career started way back, and in our opinion should have been officially introduced to the crowd, so our real appreciation could have been shown.

We being POMS all appreciated the skills that were shown to England in the 1950's by Ferenc and his fellow Hungarian Players, they defeated England 6-3 at Wembley. This defeat heralded the great changes in the way Coaches and Managers organised their teams to outwit and outplay opposing teams.

In the 1960's whilst playing for Real Madrid, Ferenc masterminded Real Madrid to unquestionable dominance of Europe, winning the European Cup five times in a row.

If you were privileged to watch the European Cup Final between Real Madrid and Eintracht you would never forget what can only be described as a Soccer Masterpiece.

We would like to finish on a positive note, originally coming from backgrounds of supporting illustrious clubs such as Manchester United, Leeds United, Everton, Coventry, and West ham, we get a great buzz from the atmosphere here at Brisbane United. Primarily from the players on the Field, of whom we feel proud and appreciative of the effort and dedication shown by all of them.

*Yours in Soccer,
Colin Lowther, Peter Callaghan
and Tony Gauntlett*

In joyful strains then let us sing

UNITED SET FOR FINALS SHOWDOWN

Brisbane United are set for a final crack at the top five after a tradesman-like 2-0 demolition of NSL giants South Melbourne Hellas.

Master tactician Miron Bleiberg stole the show with what was undoubtedly United's best performance of the year.

United controlled the match from start to finish with striker John Brown leading from the front. Brown left the Hellas defence in his wake with several scintillating runs down the right flank.

United opened their account early in the first half after good lead-up work from midfielder Ibro Cahut.

Cahut, who dominated the midfield, played a through ball to Brown who was left with only 'keeper Bruce McClaren to beat.

His shot deflected off McClaren and fell for Clayton Koch, who made no mistake with the rebound. Minutes later Brown made it 2-0 after Pimblett split the Hellas defence with a through ball.

Brown, with just the 'keeper to beat, made no mistake and ended any chance of a Hellas comeback.

United controlled the match from there on in and could have buried Hellas had it not been for poor finishing.

Brown had at least another three one-on-ones with the 'keeper and skipper Alan Hunter was unlucky hitting the woodwork on two occasions. The win was sweet for the United players who lost 4-1 to Hellas earlier in the year.

Score:
Brisbane United 2 def South Melbourne Hellas 0
Best: Brown, Hunter, Gwynne, Cahut.

UNITED STILL IN THE HUNT

Brisbane United remained in the hunt for a spot in the NSL top five with a dour 1-1 draw with Preston in Melbourne last week.

The draw means United are now two points behind fifth-placed Wollongong City and still in with a chance with just three matches remaining.

Preston opened their account just after half-time when striker Andrew Zinni beat two defenders before driving his shot past the advancing Robbie Farrow.

Farrow, who has replaced Mirko Runje in the line-up for the past three weeks, had an outstanding match and showed why he is one of the best custodians in the State.

United replied straight away when John Brown headed a Mark Greer cross into the top right hand corner of the net.

Both sides had chances to win the game but poor finishing ensured a draw.

Score: Brisbane United 1 drew Preston 1
Best: Farrow, Bullock, Slater.

MANAGEMENT OF ACUTE SOFT TISSUE INJURIES

SOFT TISSUE

All soccer players, at some stage, will experience a soft tissue injury of one sort or another.

Most injuries are contusions (bruising of the bone) or Haematomas (bruising of the muscle) due to collisions with other players or the ground. Some however, will suffer damage to other soft tissue structures – muscle tears (sprains), ligament stretches (sprains), tendon stretches (the structures that join muscles to bone), bursa/fat pad damage (friction reducing pads between soft tissue and bone) as well as joint capsule damage.

The assessment of exactly what is damaged and how severe the injury is falls on the shoulders of the experienced practitioner, e.g. sports Physiotherapist, sports doctor or experienced sports trainer NOT STRAPPER! Should there be any doubt as to the severity of injury the player must be referred to a specialist sports physiotherapist/doctor. The basics of soft tissue injury management are quite simple and will greatly limit the time a player spends out of the game, if adhered to by all concerned.

R	-	Rest
I	-	Ice
C	-	Compression
E	-	Elevation
D	-	Diagnosis

This simple to remember neumatic provides the essentials in the acute management of soft tissue injury. Should a player be forced from the field or experience a "knock" during the game, then R.I.C.E.D. should be instituted as soon as possible. Remember the first six hours after the injury are critical – correct application of 20–30 minutes of ice followed by 20 minutes of rest as a guideline will slow blood flow and cell activity and therefore inflammation!!

Firm elastic (rubber threaded) compression bandage applied from distal to proximal will further decrease blood flow and inflammation.

As well, raising the injured part above the heart aids the slowing of inflammation. Watch for changes in sensation and check with experienced personnel if there are problems.

The acute treatment protocol continues for at least 48 hours as is practical and maybe longer depending upon the injury. Early supervised rehabilitation including exercise, stretches and strengthening with your physiotherapist will further accelerate your recovery. Its' timing requires the experienced hand.

There is no place for alcohol or heat (massage/hot tubs/baths) in the first 48 hours of injury management. Both massage and heat may be valuable later – check with your sports medicine staff.

*Happy soccering

BETTER MUSIC

FROM THE LOCKER ROOM – with Chris Slater

Well, this is the day many Queenslanders have been waiting for since the start of the NSL season way back in October.

Tonight's match should be a cracker and there is more than pride riding on this one. For United to make the five, tonight's match must bring two points. But with Newcastle hammering Melbourne Croatia 4–1 last week, the result is far from assured. Expect to see 90 minutes of fast, hard, pressure football.

Tonight's match is a special one for all Brisbane Lions' fans as they have more than their share of footballers on the park.

With Newcastle bringing my old mate Andy Stowell and former team mates Darren Hillier and Nick Meredith, and with United already having Robbie Farrow, David Hunter, Frank Mengotti, Craig Collins and yours truly, there is a chance up to eight Lions' players could be on the pitch, not bad for one club.

Congratulations to Robbie Farrow on his press Man-of-the-Match award in Melbourne last week. Robbie gave a superb display of his keeping ability and he must be enjoying his chance to show us just what a good keeper he is. I feel sorry for Mirko but Robbie has just grabbed the opportunity with both hands. United is lucky to have two keepers of such high quality.

Rumour has it that Craig Williams took a secret flight down South last week to team up with rock star Rod Stewart.

Rod, who played a game at Perry Park while in Brisbane, was so impressed with Craig's finishing in the match that he paid for the United star to join him in Sydney. Apparently Rod's team won the match 4–3 with Craig scoring two goals, both set up by the rock star himself... Believe it or not!

Well that's the scoop.... Catch you later...Slates.

PLAYER PROFILE

Team Member: Robert Farrow

Date of birth: 26.7.62

Star sign: Leo

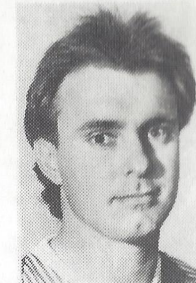

Nickname: Willow Height: 6' 1" Weight: 14 st.

Marital status: Engaged

Playing position: Goal Keeper

Senior playing history: Acacia Ridge 1979–1983, Lions 1984–present.

Queensland representative 1983–1991.

Today's profile player is last week's Man-of-the Match Robbie Farrow. Robbie has been United's number two keeper this year but was given the nod after regular Mirko Runje was sent off against Wollongong City.

Robbie has been Queensland's number one keeper for the last four years representing Queensland on several occasions so today's match against a Bruce Stowell coached side should make him feel right at home. Robbie has played under Bruce on many occasions and both should know each other very well.

We wish Robbie all the best for the rest of the season and hope he can keep the Newcastle strikers at bay today.
